

HIST OIRES de PARFUMS

Histoires de Parfums

An olfactive library that is telling stories about famous characters, raw materials and mythical years. The collection created by Gérard Ghislain is governed by no rules other than inspiration. With his luxuriant imagination, this loquacious individual has chosen to bring his stories to life in perfumes, a sensitive and sensual medium. Histoires de Parfums releases its fragrances in a Deluxe edition to be read on skin.

Philosophy

Histoires de Parfums' perfumes perpetuate the French perfumery know-how, which features are luxury, nobility and creativity. Histoires de Parfums maintains the highest qualitative standards in the choice of the raw materials as well as in the choice of the bottles, packaging and communication tools. With this perfume library, Gerald Ghislain wanted to evoke stories through scent just as books are written with emotions.

The Author

Gérald Ghislain wrote his own story with the frantic rhythm of a passionate jack of all trades. An epicurean, he tastes all of life's savors, sprinkling his daily life with refined luxury. He gives his all to his projects. Insatiable wonderer, he listens, eads and discovers, drawing inspiration from his trips and encounters. Gerald is impulsive and fully committed to his projects. Perfumery is an old dream of his. Following a solid training at ISIPCA, Gerald founded Histoires de Parfums in 2000 and created a collection of twelve rare and delicate perfumes: these perfumes like him are rich in temperament and so, so romantic!

The Verb

The Histoires de Parfums language is eager and plural. Born in the South of France and brought up in Morocco, Gérald grew up surrounded by Mediterranean scents, and refined his palette and nose with gastronomy, learning the art of putting together and distilling savors. As with perfumery and cuisine, the key words of this creator are passion, know-how, exception and creativity. An eminently luxurious craftsman's grammar, creating aromatic phrases of sharply accurate vocabulary, which enhances the noblest of raw materials.

Library of Scents

Spotless crepe paper, titles in color, bottles chiseled in glass: Histoires de Parfums is smartly bound in sixteen volumes to create a unique library. The eaux de parfums have a 15 % concentration which makes them long lasting with a beautiful trail.

1876, 1873, 1826, 1804, 1828, 1740, 1725

The first volumes of this collection were inspired by famous people who influenced their generation. The name given to the perfume is that of their date of birth.

Noir Pachouli, Blanc Violette, Vert Pivoine

A second series tells stories based on flowers or plants in a very personal style.

1969, Ambre 114

Unique, cult perfumes to complete this library.

Tuberose

Tubéreuse 1 Capricious, Tubéreuse 2 Virginal, Tubéreuse 3 Animal

This trilogy brings together different evocations around this flower character sulfur.

1889 - Moulin Rouge

The legend of the famous Parisian cabaret nights depicted in a bottle.

Edition Rare

Rosam Absolu, Petroleum Absolu, Ambrarem Absolu

Dominated by the rare and precious Oudh, this exclusive collection is deliberately embellished with a palette of Petrol, Rose and Amber, materials long used in traditional perfumery.

The Fragrances

When he is creating his perfumes, Gérald interprets in a new way the classic olfactive families by including an unexpected component, to obtain an original and surprising collection. These perfumes have a long trail, deep tempered, dense notes and are extremely sensual.

Characters

The mythical characters of a long past time have been brought back to life by Gérald by creating a fragrance for each of them. To his favorite writers, George Sand, the Marquis de Sade, Casanova, Jules Verne, he added the sublime figures of Mata Hari and Eugénie de Montijo, who all together create a gallery of characters in full color, a declension of many stylistic devices. Romantic, epic, neo classic, erotic, the choice is immense...

The Tuberose Trilogy

The mythical tuberose flower is a symbol of desire and dangerous pleasures. First discovered in Mexico thousands of years ago, tuberose is now cultivated worldwide, specifically in South India to be devoted to Gods, ceremonies and perfumes. A night-blooming plant that ends in a cluster of corolla flowers, tuberose only blooms once a year and requires meticulous care and cultivation. Tuberose's fragrance is considered one of the most powerful floral scents and presents a noble challenge for any perfumer to bottle, yet has inspired many legendary fragrances. Tuberose emits a sweet and heady perfume, deeper after twilight when in full bloom. Its warm and velvety scent is sensual and spicy with a hint of sweetness and crystallized sugar. A powerful aphrodisiac, the green top notes gradually fold into a wild and bewitching deep bouquet of fragrance.

1

CAPRICIEUSE

First, the subtle freshness of bergamot hits your nose, revealing a majestic tuberose in full bloom. Little by little, saffron brings out the exquisite warmth of salted skin. As the fragrance settles, the tuberose becomes further enhanced by saffron, as well as by the sumptuous essences iris and ylang-ylang for a sweet and spicy smell. Long after you spray Tubéreuse 1 the base notes appear – a near opulent harmony of suede tinged with cocoa. This fragrance leaves a mysterious and addictive trail, leaving you and those around you wanting more.

Who is Tubérose 1?

Stubborn, demanding, temperamental... yes, she is all of those things and more. With a natural sophistication, she balances modesty and pride and leaves a trail of wafting iris and saffron.

Tubéreuse 1 Capricious Eau de Parfum

(21772) 120 ml $205

(21788) 60 ml $125

(22084) 14 ml $36

TOP NOTES:

Tuberose, Bergamot, Saffron.

HEART NOTES:

Tuberose, Iris, Ylang Ylang.

BASE NOTES:

Tuberose, Suede, Cocoa.

TUBÉREUSE 2 VIRGINALE

The sparkling cheerfulness of mandarin orange and sweetness of cherry greet the nose and delicately reveal the tuberose. The fragrance gently settles into a sweet scent of the islands. It holds a heart of tropical Tahiti – perfumed with the smoothness of frangipani and tiara flowers and the sensual headiness of jasmine. Hours later the base notes emerge – a blend of patchouli leaf, blond wood and vanilla evoke a deep and sophisticated air.

Who is Tubereuse 2?

Sweet and charming by day, dangerous by night, she has many facets to her personality. During the Renaissance young ladies were forbidden to walk through the gardens at night because the alluring scent of tuberose was an intense aphrodisiac. Tubereuse 2 isn't afraid to embrace her wild side!

Tubereuse 2 Virginal Eau de Parfum

(21773) 120 ml $205

(21789) 60 ml $125

BASE NOTES:

Tubereuse, Patchouli, Blond Woods, Vanilla.

ANIMALE

At first, kumquat and neroli awake the Tuberose in a fruity bath of freshness. This leads into the heart of the fragrance – a strong and unique combination of plum, herbs and dry grasses. Blond tobacco and the Immortelle flower intensify the base notes and enhance the Tuberose as the fragrance reaches its peak.

Who is Tuberose 3?

Strength and mystery shroud her, and her personality is vivacious and addictive. Seductive and sexy, she attracts all those around her, just like magic.

Moulin Rouge

In the heart of Montmartre, the Moulin Rouge stands as a living ode to the history the famous French Cancan. The most well-known cabaret in the world lights up Paris and never stops turning heads with each new musical revue. This legendary avant-garde landmark has launched the careers of some of greatest artists in France and worldwide, including: Edith Piaf, Ella Fitzgerald, Liza Minnelli, Colette, Mistinguett, and La Goulue, muse of Toulouse-Lautrec.

This famous burlesque theater was brought to life in 1889, and the new fragrance is a celebration of liberation and passionate, dazzling women. Histories de Parfums 1889 honors Moulin Rouge with a vibrant, sensual scent, full of vivacity and elegance, with just a hint of feathers and sequins. At the Moulin Rouge, the Belle Époque is eternal and timeless – the legend is told through the bottle and read through the scent.

PARIS

1889

Spicy Cinnamon warmly mixes with Sugar and melts into Absinthe, while Rose of Damascus releases her sensuality, playfully seducing each spectator with her allure. The audience and dancers each play different roles but the music ties them together for a night of revelry and excitement. The enchantment never stops – time stands still in the Moulin Rouge. The show ends and the curtain falls, but the party continues. Backstage, mirrors reflect silhouettes laughing. The smell of Iris Powder and Lipstick float out to the streets on a cloud of Musk and Patchouli. The memory and scent of this unforgettable night lingers through the morning.

Édition Rare

Perfumer Gerald Ghislain transforms and redefines with his creative brilliance. Dominated by the rare and precious Oudh, this exclusive collection is deliberately embellished with a palette of Petrol, Rose and Amber, materials long used in traditional perfumery. He has revealed their fierce strength, veracity and raw beauty making each an emblem of our natural Earth, undisturbed by human interference... Plants, Minerals and Animals.

Rosam Absolu

An ode to a rose – her royal majesty is a fragile beauty with a symphony of velvety petals and soft sophisticated allure. She delicately nurtures the powerful anamalic notes as citrus freshness imparts a modern antidote of balance.. A brilliant bouquet flourishes into an intense trail of raw sensuality, composed of incense and saffron flower, dangerously amplified by Oudh. As a final touch to this extraordinary composition, patchouli is wildly theatrical imparting a final dance in the spirit of the East.
