

Our Advanced BioActive Products Take On A New Dimension

THE DYNAMIC NATURE OF ORMUS

Quantum physics calls our cells, 'a unified field of infinite possibility'. Something so tiny, yet so powerful as the high-spin state of a single Ormus atom may offer the potential of rejuvenating our entire being. The luminous energy of Ormus may be a spark of light that can activate every other atom, molecule and cell in our body to perform at optimal levels toward perfect health, energy and a dynamic renewed radiance that projects youth.

About Ormus

Ormus elements are the water-soluble mineral metals of the Platinum Group in a monoatomic or diatomic elemental form. The atoms are in an unusual high-spin state and exhibit extraordinary superconductive activity which rapidly increases inter-cellular communications. When cell communications are energized, normal metabolism for release of toxins, repair and regeneration is accelerated.

This can theoretically be explained by the natural organized structure of Ormus in a high spin state which produces a quantum coherent effect, whereby the atoms are lined up to form a sort of circuit, capable of storing a lot of energy. As an organized structure, the atoms act like a single atom making them infinitely more powerful. In this unified structured state, Ormus easily permeates another substance and can imprint its energy, into whatever substance it is combined with. Homeopathy works on a similar principle where the effects of the medicine are coming more from the energetic imprint of the original substance rather than the substance itself.

Ormus elements are found everywhere in nature including the human biological system. They are particularly concentrated in volcanic and high altitude mountain regions, especially from mountain springs at their source. Plants grown in these regions are rich in Ormus elements, including many of the plants we have incorporated in high concentrations throughout our ISUN line of products.

Ormus and ISUN

Our Advanced BioActive Skincare takes on a new meaning when merged with the superconductive energy and flow of Ormus. The potential for accelerated skin rejuvenation may exist even beyond what we have already experienced with our Advanced Bioactive products.

We have added Ormus to two key advanced bioactive skin care products that are within both the women's and men's lines. Emerald Sun Hydrosol and the men's product equivalent, Replenish, contain Ormus elements. Phyto-Infusion I & II and the men's product equivalent, Repair, are enhanced with an Ormus and colloidal gold complex called, Ormus Gold.

As is said that Ormus is the consciousness that exists in water and that it is a bridge between spirit and matter that can bring light into the physical world. This is conjecture, but if we can enhance the rejuvenating benefits of our skin care products with Ormus derived from the source of a pristine mountain spring, why would we not? By adding Ormus, we believe we've added a 'touch of light' to your inherent radiance.